OVERVIEW

Antye Greie-Ripatti is an artist, audio sculptress, composer, sound artist & curator/facilitator of sound art, poemproducer & intersectional feminist networker.

Her work emphasises language, sound, listening, voice and politics and summarised as "Feminist Sonic Technologies" expressed in mixed media, audiovisual live performances, digital communication, sound installations, commissions for radio, movies, dance, theatre, audio journalism online.

In 2020 she founded RECon (rec-on.org) - a sound & listening exhibition space for political sound and the sound activist community around it.

Her work has been exhibited and performances in museums, auditoria, theatres, concert halls and clubs throughout the world at festivals such as Ars Electronica Linz, Sonar Barcelona, CTM Berlin, GRM Festival Paris, Tuned City, Roskilde, Sync Festival Athens, AudioVisiva Milan, Intern. Sonic Acts Amsterdam and staged solo performances in venues like Pompidou Paris, ICC Tokyo, Akademie der Kuenste Berlin, ICA London, Southbankcenter and many more.

In 2011 Greie-Ripatti founded the local arts organisation Hai Art in Hailuoto. Hai Art has organised a conference on remote art, 10+ Artist-In-Residencies, extensive sound program with children in Hailuoto, the iPad Orchestra Hailuoto, the acoustic sculpture Organum, the Hailuoto (mini) MediaLAB and numerous sound art camps around the concept of #sonicwilderness

Greie-Ripatti released 30+ long player records and countless collaborations under such aliases as AGF, AGF/Delay (with Vladislav Delay), Greie Gut Fraktion (with Gudrun Gut), and The Lappetites (with Eliane Radigue, Kaffe Matthews and Ryoko Akama), many collaborations with the award-winning classical composer Craig Armstrong. Her sound production company and music label AGF Produktion releases series of audio collections

Antye works as independent curator/facilitator with emphasis on sound, language and feminisms.

A constant practice of highlighting women's and minority genders' work and fostering community around cross-border sound projects with the large international network female:pressure and eastblocsound

She is member of Bioart Society since 2012.

Greie-Ripatti has been teaching, lecturing and tutoring on artistic practice and giving workshops in many institutions such as Goldsmiths, LCC, Bard College, Tokyo Keizai University, Sibelius Academy & more.

CURATION AND CULTURAL PRODUCTION

In 2011 Antye Greie-Ripatti organised a community choir called Kaiku in Hailuoto. The choir imitated sounds of the environment and abstract poetry pieces and publishes audio recordings. It was followed by the foundation of an experimental artist run project called Hai Art on the remote island Hailuoto which gained an operating fund and a 2 year artistic direction format for Antye Greie-Ripatti. Hai Art became an arts organisation with works in public and social space. Hai Art and Antye as executive director produced an international conference about Remoteness, Art & Diversity called 'Wind as context', 10 Artist-in-Residencies (Sound Room, Sonic Bikes, Anchorhold, Sonic Boat Journey, Sound Map Hailuoto APP) and countless workshops, the children iPad Orchestra Hailuoto plus runs a MediaMakerLab. Greie-Ripatti's debut as a curator and educator in a remote and social context has led her to lecture at the Academy of Fine Art in Helsinki , Goldsmiths College of London, London University of Arts and numerous lectures worldwide. As of 2022 Hai Art has new direction and Antye remains in the board.

Since 2015 she practices as independent sound curator for international festivals, competitions and conferences. Greie-Ripatti has been in several sound art juries [3 times with Ars Electronica] and curated and produced the V I S I B I L I T Y tumblr for female:pressure which exhibits 500+ women music producers and technology. In 2016 the project Music, Awareness & Solidarity w/ Rojava Women Revolution was realised in collaboration with the women network female:pressure. From 2014- 2016 Antye led the project Sound of Culture and Culture of Sound and facilitated numerous sound camps and curatorial contributions. Antye has additionally curated and facilitated numerous sound art camps on invitation in countries like Indonesia, Vietnam, Lithuania, Czech Republic. In 2018 Hai Art commissioned and build a sound app for Kuopio 'Sound Map Kuopio'

AGF released 5 feminist audio collections 2022 based on forgotten women and their writings is an ongoing project, German, Finnish, Greek language stories.

In 2020 she founded RECon (rec-on.org) a sound and listening exhibition space for political sound & listening and the community around it. The new space {inflection} follows a compositional technology "growing sound" as in growing connections, networks suggesting sound as a form of organizing, because we know listening and sound is a way of knowing the world, sound art as knowledge production.
